INSTRUCTIONS

General

Government telephones are for official use only. They should not be used for personal business. Public pay stations have been placed throughout the Department for the convenience of those who find it necessary to make personal calls.

In using the telephones make your conversation as brief as possible and to the point. Speak close to the transmitter in a clear tone.

Make sure that you call the correct number by consulting the directory, as every wrong number called delays the caller, annoys the person called and retards the service.

When the operators attention is required recall her by moving the receiver hook slowly down and up and then pause to permit her response.

To transfer a call from one telephone to another, signal the operator from the telephone at which the call is received and ask her to "transfer this call to Branch Number ____." This practice will assure the calling party obtaining the branch desired without delay.

When Making Calls

Improved service will result from a definite cooperation between telephone users and the telephone operators. The following standard methods of making calls will result in the most satisfactory general service and it is expected that all telephone users will be governed accordingly.

1. Call by number and not by name or office.
2. When the person desired is listed in this directory under another switchboard, give the Department operator the name of the Bureau and when the distant Bureau operator answers give her the branch number or the name of the party desired.
3. When the person desired is to be reached through another Government switchboard, give the Department operator the name of the department, bureau or independent establishment that is wanted.
4. In making an official outside central office call, that is, calls other than to Government offices, take your receiver off the hook and when the operator answers by saying "number please" give her the number desired, or otherwise indicate that you wish to make a call by requesting a dial trunk or outside line, and when you hear the dial tone dial the desired number by dialing the first two letters of the name of the exchange, such as "Di" for District, "Ge" for Georgia, etc., followed by the number wanted. Operating the dial without having first given the operator your number or request for a dial line prevents the operator answering, and accomplishes nothing. Dialing without first having heard the dial tone is a futile effort.

5. Calls within the Department are made by giving the operator the branch number desired and NOT by the use of the dial.

Long Distance Calls

Long distance calls and calls to nearby places must be given to the Department long distance operator. When such calls are made they should be given properly as follows:

- a. The call should be placed as "Long Distance."
- b. Give the telephone number and name of the person calling.
- c. Give the name of the person with whom you desire to speak.
- d. Give the name of any alternate person if you are willing to speak with anyone else, if necessary.
- e. Give the name of the city or town and state in which the person desired is located.
- f. Give the number of the telephone desired, if known.
- g. Give the name of the person or firm under whose name the telephone would probably be listed.
- h. Listen to the operator repeat these details after you have finished and correct her if not repeated correctly.
- i. Hang up your receiver as the operator will call you when the connection is to be completed.

USE OF TELEPHONES

It should be remembered that the operators' work is exacting and requires their constant attention. For this reason they are entitled, as your fellow employees, to such consideration as you expect from them. Impatience with telephone operators accomplishes nothing, and in fact tends to defeat your own object, which is to receive prompt and courteous service. Our operators are under rigid instructions to give the best possible service, to be courteous at all times, and to avoid anything approaching controversy. It is in fact to their own interest to give all, without discrimination, the most prompt and accurate service possible. When delays are incurred these facts should be kept in mind and reasonable patience exercised.

COMPLAINTS

If you have a complaint to make regarding the service, advise the Chief Operator or Supervisor at the time the incident occurs, stating definitely and specifically the nature of the trouble experienced. It is important that trouble be reported promptly in order that the matter may be investigated and corrected at the time.
